

AES prepares foreign educational evaluations portfolios, including Educational, Work Experience and Position Evaluations, for foreign nationals seeking to work or study in the United States. These evaluations are continuously accepted by the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) now known as United States Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) within the Department of Homeland Security (DHS), as well as by the Department of Labor (DOL), licensing boards, and U.S. colleges and universities. In addition, AES provides translation and interpretation services to take care of all of your linguistic needs. The Foreign Educational Evaluations Portfolio

The evaluation of foreign credentials by Ashland Educational Services (AES) follows the placement recommendations approved by the National Council on the Evaluation of Foreign Education Credentials (CEC). The Council is the only interassociational body in the United States specially created to review and approve placement recommendations written for publications used by the U.S. admissions community.

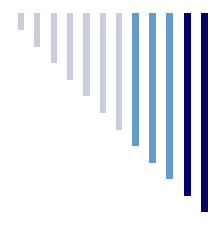

Our Services

AES assess the foreign academic credentials of the applicant.

The evaluations determine the applicant's level of education, the number of years completed and the specialization of the applicant.

Professional Work Experience Evaluations Portfolio also evaluate the applicants' education (if applicable), as well as their work experience, using the USCIS "three-for-one" rule. This rule states that three years of work experience can be substituted for one year of academic study in order to equate the work experience to a U.S. Bachelor's degree. (This equivalency is used for USCIS and DOL purposes only; the applicant cannot use the reports for admission into university programs based on work experience.) AES' Work Experience Evaluations are completed by M.A and M.S. university professors with the "authority to grant college-level credit for training and/or work experience."

Course by Course Evaluations Portfolio provide the same information as an educational evaluation portfolio, but also list the courses the applicant has taken, the grades received and the credit equivalence earned in the United States. This type of evaluation is required by some universities, teacher certifications and licensing or membership in professional associations. The destination entity has the final decision on the evaluation.
